To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Lydia R. Clark, late of Patten, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration by the sum of three hundred dollars or more.

Clark died seized and possessed, being Lot No. 11 in said town of Patten, containing 160 acres, more or less, inasmuch as by a sale of any portion of the same, the residue would be depreciated in value, of the real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein, if any,) to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

Said real estate is the same described in a Deed recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County.

THE MORMONS

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Salt Lake City, gives quite a different picture of the condition of affairs there from that drawn by his contemporary of the Herald. He finds the capital of Mormondom as quiet as any Northern city of its size, without any signs of social or political excitement worthy of mention. While there is a difference of opinion among the civilian gentiles as to the intention of the saints, the military officers are decidedly of the opinion that there is no reason to anticipate an armed outbreak. The Nauvoo Legion keeps up its organization, but its recent activity is said to be entirely due to the natural desire of its officers, who are putting it through its spring inspection, to maintain its reputation for ... and general efficiency. Meanwhile Mormons and gentiles mingle amicably in society, and, whatever may lurk beneath it, the current of social life seems undisturbed by anything presaging trouble. The general sentiment, as directly expressed by the gentiles, and unwillingly admitted by the more candid of the saints, is that polygamy, "the peculiar institution," is most decidedly on the wane. With the extinction of polygamy Mormonism, compelled, like other sects, to appeal simply to the spiritual side of men's nature, will lose that powerful attraction it has held out to the dissolute in clothing the gratification of sensuality with the pretext of religious sanction and divine ordination. Brigham Young, with whom the Times' correspondent had an interview, says that the talk about trouble is nonsense got up for sensational effect, and that the Mormons want peace. Certainly, in the present excited state of the public mind on the Mormon question, no outbreak would be little short of madness, and is cunning rather than courage that has ever been the distinguishing trait of the prophet's character. It is safe to assume that his policy will be so shaped as to avoid anything likely to provoke an unequal conflict, the issue of which could be nothing short of the annihilation of Mormondom.

Should old acquaintance be forgot? Decidedly, in nine cases out of ten, if the forgetting, and above all the being forgotten, were possible. It is one thing to grapple the friends we have, and their adoption tried, to our souls with hoops of steel, and another to be grappled by miscellaneous persons whose claim on our regard and proof of theirs is found in the almanac and only there. Why are people who are old acquaintances and nothing more to take possession of us like conscious benefactors, speaking of us, if not to us, off our intimate names, criticising us with the air of experts, being self-complacent on our successes and candid on our failures, exposing our motives and lamenting our hidden faults? Why do they question us on our private affairs, offer us point-blank condolences on the skeleton in our closet, jocosely blurt out unpalatable truths, find fault with our new carpet, advise us? These are the privileges of intimacy, of friendship, and they have known us so long. By the popular computation the having been aware for a long time of each other's existence is intimacy, indifference multiplied by years is friendship. Only let a man have been acquainted with you from your childhood and he has, by every recognised law of good feeling, the same right to take an aggressive interest in your proceedings that your relations possess by their relationship, and your bosom friends by your own conferring.—[London Examiner.

A Point on Which the Doctors Agree.

Physicians who have tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters concur in representing it to be an eminently safe stimulant, far preferable to the ordinary liquors of commerce, not only because it is medicated, but because it is infinitely pure. Its alcoholic basis is the finest old rye, and this is tempered and rendered medicinal by the curative ingredients of botanic origin which it holds in solution. It has often been imitated, but never rivalled, and is to-day the leading tonic, diuretic and aperient of America. Malarial fevers are prevented, and remedied by it, and it is a thoroughly reliable medicine in cases of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, rheumatism, gout, nervousness, urinary and uterine affections. It improves the appetite, increases the bodily stamina, checks premature decay, and as a sustaining and comforting cordial for the aged and infirm is unequalled.

[From the Boston Traveller.]

EVILS OF THE SOUTHERN SYSTEM

There are some newspapers which have been Republican and are still classed as such, but which in their discussion of Southern affairs would never be distinguished from those of their old Democratic opponents. In many respects they appear to be anxious to outvie the Democrats in their professions of good will and confidence in the professions of the ruling classes of the South. From a knowledge of Southern character, one can well imagine the effect which such newly-inspired professions of confidence will have on the Southern heart. It is not that kind of love which heaps coals of fire on the heads of an enemy, neither will it have the effect of subduing him. The conviction will prevail which prevailed in the days of slavery that the Northern people were mainly of the pedlar sort, ready at all times to barter their principles as they do their goods, and have again begun to practice in that way. The readers of this class of papers would know as little of what is going on should they confine their reading to them, as they would reading Democratic papers. Witness their copying of extracts from Mr. Smalley's letters to the N. Y. Tribune, in which they give only the flattering portions of them in the alleged favorable workings of the policy. The Tribune's correspondent, without telling anything new, is evidently satisfied with the state of things, and gives the key to the whole system, as it has worked for eight years in Georgia, and is working unchecked all over the South. He says "the Georgia system of dealing with the colored vote, appears to be everywhere effective. I imagine that the essence of the system consists in controlling the election machinery, so that no matter what votes go into the boxes those that come out show the white vote to be ahead. After a little experience of this sort of suffrage the blacks begin to lose their interest in politics, and it must be admitted that the community is the gainer thereby. It does not appear to be the policy of the managing white politicians to wipe out the black Republican vote entirely. They leave enough to serve as a bugbear to the whites, and keep them together as a party."

That is the sort of freedom which prevails in the South, and that is the kind of justification which fraud puts forth for the control of the government. What would be thought of a party or of individuals who should advocate or justify such a party in the North? That there have been practices of the character described is well known, and there has been an immense amount of indignation at such practices, with great efforts made to put a stop to them. Although charged upon the leaders of the Democratic party, with a full knowledge of the truth of the charges, they are not bad enough to attempt to justify such acts. It is difficult to see how practices universally condemned in the North, can not only be justified but commended in the South, and commended, too, by Northern men. If the policy is a good one at the South, and is to govern that section of the country, how long will it take to make it the ruling one for the whole country, and if it is to be applied to the blacks, there are other ignorant classes who may with as much justification be controlled in their rights of suffrage. It will be found a dangerous policy to play with.

There was a striking contrast between the conduct of the majority in the Legislature of South Carolina and that of at least one of the Republicans whom they have robbed of their seats. Hon. T. B. Johnson, of Sumter County, a Representative against whom there was no contest, and whose election was undisputed, was called on to purge himself of contempt in having entered the Chamberlain Legislature. Whereupon he replied with great dignity that he was elected by the people of Sumter to represent them in the General Assembly on the day appointed, that he then identified himself with what was known as the Mackey House. "I believed," he said, "conscientiously believed, that I was right in the course I then pursued. Believing that, with all due respect for this House, I can't stultify myself by asking pardon for an offense which my conscience tells me I am not guilty of." And later, when this manly action failed to shame the House, Mr. Johnson added: "It is evident, Mr. Speaker, from the disposition shown by the gentlemen, that it is not their intention to award me the seat to which I have been elected. Yet, with all due respect, I can safely say that, though I be denied my seat, I can still keep my self-respect." The Charleston papers say that the House was very impatient with Mr. Johnson and could "hardly afford to hear him through."—N. Y. Times.

"Transfusion of blood" is one of the medical theories which Mr. Charles Reade unfolds in his novels. The experiment was recently made in Liverpool, and a reckless but good-natured man died through his willingness to contribute to another's restoration to health. He was not in sound health himself when his veins were opened and his blood was shed for the sake of his friend, and he invited death by drinking heavily after operation had been performed. It was a useless sacrifice; his blood did not save the life of his friend; their deaths came close together. "Death from misadventure" was the commonplace verdict of the coroner's jury; but it was accompanied by a presentment to the effect that sufficient inquiry was not made by the medical men as to the man's habits and physical condition, and that he did not receive sufficient caution as to the risk he was running in giving his blood to his sick friend.

In two minutes the tornado at Mount Carmel did its terrible work. There was hope that the earlier despatches might have overstated the loss of life, but it is now known that not less than twenty-two deaths were occasioned. The outburst seems to have occurred at the point where two winds, from different directions, met. Its power, when developed as a whirlwind, was almost incredible, men and women befuddled by it and carried hundreds of yards. Of course all human effort in such a crisis was unavailing, but there were many singular escapes from injury, among the most curious being that of a boy who was carried over housetops to a distance of half a mile.

Queen Victoria has completed her 58th year; only 12 other of the 38 reigning sovereigns of Christendom have attained to this age. The oldest of all is the Pope, who is 85. Emperor William is 80, the Czar is 59, Victor Emanuel is 57, Emperor Francis Joseph is nearly 47. The youngest of the sovereigns is Alphonzo of Spain.

It is conceded by the Odessa Chamber of Commerce, and the United States Consul gives the reasons for the fact, that Russia cannot compete with the United States in the sale of wheat in the British markets. Authoritative writers declare that now, or soon, iron ships can or will be constructed in this country more cheaply than on the Clyde. Four thousand head of cattle are needed weekly to supply the British demand from our ports. If we look at the circumstances surrounding and dominating these industries, it is a fair business calculation that they are each and all to increase in importance and profit to us as a nation. We are in regard to them in the condition of the western farmer who owns his land, and who can make much of it little of it of years go by, according to his ability and industry. There is all the power and resources for development. The event is certain. That there are impediments in the way is obvious. The currency question is to be settled. Some disposition must be made of our vast public and private indebtedness. It must be recognized as a law irrevocable for capitalist and laborer that moderate gains are the only permanent gains. The nonsense of expecting a day's wages for half a day's work must be eliminated, and the folly of strikes understood. People must live upon what they have or earn, and not on what they owe. In short, when we come down to rational ideas, one and all, and set about utilizing our means in a sensible way, we shall enter upon a career of prosperity to which no immediate limits can be set. We have the territory, the mineral riches, the inventive skill, the population and now cheap money. The world must eat, be clothed and have the means of communication. This country can furnish food, clothing and ships to it as cheaply as any other, if it will.

As an illustration of the businesslike persistence with which Russia has been advancing toward the Indian frontier, it is mentioned that the Russian authorities in Turkistan have explored a new route from Khokand over the mountains to India seeking a point where she can best meet English opposition should it come. The usual route to India is through the Terek Pass to Kashgar in Chinese Tartary, and thence via Yarkand through the Barsghil Pass to the Chitral Valley. The Russians, it is understood, have discovered an easier way. An English officer reports that Gen. Kaufman has 40,000 men under his command, and is ambitious to demonstrate the possibility of operating against India from Khokand.

Latest reports from the South are more encouraging for the grain crop than for cotton. In Georgia the corn and wheat crops will be almost unprecedentedly large, but complaints come from all parts of the State that a good stand of cotton cannot be obtained. A prominent Raleigh cotton buyer thinks that North Carolina will not make more than one half the cotton crop of last year.

The members of the Hartford Medical Society are divided upon the question whether the recent death of Prof. Alvergnat was caused by real hydrophobia or simulated hydrophobia. The poor man was bitten by a vagrant dog and died in horrible agony. But one of the doctors thought that spasms of the larynx, laid down as an essential evidence of hydrophobia, did not appear with decision.

Let the honors paid to General Grant be royal honors, what of that? If we did not belittle republicanism by paying royal honors to the Prince of Wales, the Russian Grand Duke, and the Emperor of Brazil, is our republicanism belittled by receiving similar honors through the person of the late head of our Government? It is true General Grant is in the eye of the law no more than a private citizen; but we ourselves pay honors to an ex-President, and such honors paid by a foreign nation that much more exalts the dignity of the position which he once held.—Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.)

Mr. Hayes leans on a very worthless reed. When he depends on Ohio for comfort and support he depends on a State which is going to show him how insignificant he is. If by any chance he succeeds, it will be through a free and lavish use of federal pap and the practice of political bribery, which he has been so forward in denouncing.—Troy Press (Dem.)

HARRISON'S PERISTALTIC LOZENGES.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR

Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Piles, Oppression after Eating, Headache, Dizziness,

For thirty years these lozenges have retained the confidence of the Medical Profession and the public generally, in spite of all competitors or imitators. They are the most effectual remedy for HABITUAL COSTIVENESS and its results, viz: Piles, Indigestion, Headache, Dizziness, Languor, Oppression of Food, Heartburn, Flatulence, Bad Taste in the mouth, Torpid Liver, &c., &c.

Females who cannot endure strong purgatives find these Lozenges admirably suited to the many complaints incident to their sex, by restoring nature and preventing periodical pains and obstructions. They are also just the thing for children suffering with worms, being a sure cure, and as agreeable to take as the most pleasant confection.

Travellers find the Lozenges just what they need, as they are so compact and inodorous that they may be carried in the vest pocket, and as an aperient or laxative they are unequalled!

Testimony of a Boston Merchant.

BOSTON, May 10, 1865.

This certifies that I have used Dr. Harrison's PERISTALTIC LOZENGES, and after suffering a long time with the Piles I experienced an entire cure, and recommend their use to all afflicted in the same way, without reserve, or especially if afflicted with any constipation.

Political Clubs Closed

PARIS June 7 Three Republican Clubs have been closed by the authorities because of unauthorized political meetings

Political Discussion Disallowed

The manager of the Egalite, published at Marseilles has been sentenced to one month's imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs

The Moniteur announces that a circular will be sent to members of the Universities calling upon them to abstain from political discussions

The President and three sections of the Left held an important meeting to-day The decisions show remarkable moderation It was decided that Gambetta at the reopening of the Chamber should move an interpellation on the part of the Left but that contrary to the opinion of Gambetta himself and Thiers he should refrain from arraigning the action of President McMahon whose irresponsibility should be fully admitted It was also decided that the address in reply to McMahon's message should be fully admitted. It was also decided that the address in reply to McMahon's message should be moderate in form though decided in substance, and that if overtures were made to the majority with a view to Ministerial changes, they should be rejected without consideration, although it would be necessary to insist on the retirement of M. Fourton

It was finally decided that the question of sanctioning the budget should be left to the Budget Committee. A majority of the meeting appeared to be of the opinion that nothing should be done to render a dissolution inevitable

It was admitted that Fourton's circular relative to hawking licenses rendered many circumspect Republican newspapers more lukewarm in their utterances, and that to give the Republicans canvassing a significance of hostility to MacMahon would lose a number of votes

The Right of Petition Stopped

PARIS, June 7.—A circular has been issued ordering the prosecution of persons circulating for signature addresses or petitions to certain of the Senate or Chamber of Deputies.

SWORN STATEMENT

OF A

BOSTON DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that I have had Catarrh for ten years, and for the last six years have been a terrible sufferer. I was rendered partially deaf, had buzzing in the head, pains across the temple, dizzy spells, weak and painful eyes, swollen and ulcerated tonsils, hard and constant cough, severe pain across the chest, and every indication of consumption. My head ached all the time. The matter accumulated so rapidly in my head and throat that I could not keep them free. Frequently at night I would spring out of bed, it seemed to me, at the point of suffocation. I would then have recourse to every means in my power to dislodge the mucus from my throat and head before being able to sleep again. For a period of six years my tonsils were ulcerated and so much inflamed that I could with difficulty swallow. I finally consulted an eminent surgeon in regard to an operation on them, but at his request postponed it. The constant inflammation and ulceration in my throat caused by the poisonous matter dropping down from my head had so irritated and inflamed my lungs that I coughed incessantly,—a deep, hard cough. Meanwhile my system began to show the effects of this disease, so that I lost flesh, grew pale, and showed every symptom of an early death by consumption. When matters had reached this stage, or about six months ago, I began the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. After using the first bottle I began to improve rapidly. The first dose seemed to clear my head as I had not known it to be for years. It seemed gradually to arrest the discharges. It stopped my cough in three days. By using it as a gargle I soon reduced the inflammation and swelling of my tonsils, so that they soon ceased to trouble me. The soreness across my chest disappeared, the buzzing noises in my head ceased, my senses of hearing and of seeing were completely restored, and every symptom of disease that had reduced me to the verge of the grave disappeared by the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

I have been thus explicit because, as a druggist, I have seen a great deal of suffering from catarrh, and hope to convince many that this is a great remedy.

I am familiar with the treatment of Catarrh as practised by the best physicians, and have consulted the most eminent about my case. I have used every kind of remedy and apparatus that have appeared during a period of six years past, and have, while following their use, taken great care of my general health, but obtained no relief or encouragement from any of them.

Since curing myself with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, I have recommended it in over one hundred cases without a single case of failure, and have in numerous instances received wholesale orders for it from parties to whom I have sold one bottle. It is the only popular medicine I have ever recommended, never having achieved it in the future, ... confidently engaged in their sale.

Very gratefully yours,

GEORGE F. DINSMORE.

BOSTON, Feb. 23, 1876.

SUFFOLK, ss. Feb. 23, 1876.

Then personally appeared the said George F. Dinsmore, and made oath that the foregoing statement by him subscribed is true.

Before me,

SETH J. THOMAS,

Justice of the Peace.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENT.

Since the above statement was made I have been rapidly improving in health. I have had no return of the disagreeable symptoms that attended my former sickness, and although affected from time to time with severe colds incident to the sudden changes in our climate, they have not been sufficient to bring on a return of the disease. My general health has been excellent. I have gained twenty five pounds and consider myself entirely recovered from a disease that I am now convinced likely to totally undermine my constitution. Since last February I have consulted with a great many afflicted with Catarrh, and in the hundreds of cases in which I have sold I have never seen an instance sufficient to shake the confidence I feel in Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 8½ to 9 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

For these envelopes of above furnished at $32.30 per thousand.
